

Wycombe Wanderers 0, Wokingham 1

AFTER 90 MINUTES of boring, uninteresting football Wokingham's unbeaten record in the last two seasons against Wanderers was still intact. The Division One Athenian League Club have now played them on four occasions, two being drawn and the other two to their advantage.

It was the typical end of season story with nothing to play for and the game only developing into an untidy, careless kick-about.

At times there were threatening moves which showed some resemblance of good football but more often than not the attacks broke down in a series of careless passes.

Viv Busby had an opportunity to inject some life into the game when he found himself through after seven minutes, but Binfield was quickly out and at his feet.

The visitors came closest to scoring before half time when Stevenson stopped a Connell shot on the line and Pratt was able to regain his ground and save in the melee.

BORROWED

Wokingham had borrowed Connell from Slough for their tour of Holland over Whitsun and decided that they should give him a game before they went.

Thankfully for the small gathering of spectators there was something to cheer when Wokingham slipped into the lead.

In the 38th minute the Wanderers defence were caught in a laxadaisical state and allowed Kellmen through to push home.

Wanderers had their opportunity to draw level in the second period when Busby had the ball snatched from his feet by Binfield and Faulkner cracked a shot against an upright.

LAST CHANCE

Busby beat four men before shooting just wide but Wokingham were still moving forward and Connell had a header cleared from under the bar with Pratt stranded off his line.

It was Busby again who had the last chance to rescue Wanderers when he rounded the keeper only to run on too far and lose the ball for a corner.

The spectators would have been glad to have been spared this suffering and the question must now be asked: "Are these end of season games really worth it?"
